Overview

The website development for Green Apple Restaurant is for a project under a course Software Engineering at Indian Institute of Information Technology Vadodara.

Goals

1. Implementation of software engineering by practicing it throughout the project.
2. Interacting with a live client here, Green Apple Restaurant and trying to meet their expectations .

Specifications

This is a group project consisting of six members all from third year of B.tech Information Technology. All will be working on different areas according to their interest and skills.

About Website Building

Phase-1: Requirements gathering

Developing team would be having a couple of meetings with the client and the people associated with the organisation including the staff.

Phase-2: Designing/Coding

Based on your expectations and requirements the designing team will start preparing a template for your website. Then the coding team would work on that design and code it for a fruitful outcome.

Phase-3: Testing/Deployment

The website would be tested thoroughly with the users of different criteria and then if the client is satisfied the website would be deployed to them and hosted as per the terms and conditions.

Terms and Conditions

I. Design

Site will have attractive visual design, created with your feedback and to your satisfaction, and be easily navigable and usable. Pages will be designed to display well on all major browsers at all common monitor resolutions.

II. Usability

Simplicity, cleanness of visual design, and ease of operation for the end-user will be high-priority considerations at each stage. Ease of use for the admin would also be taken care.

III. Cost

This is for the learning purpose so for the development of the website developing team won't be charging, it would be free of cost.

IV. Web Hosting

After the completion of website if the client is satisfied he can host the website for which he needs to pay the amount to the developing team.

V. Changes in the website

- (i) Existing Features: Within a duration of 6 months this service would be free of cost.
- (ii) Addition of Features: After deployment of website if client needs extra features to be added then developing team shall charge accordingly, for which both the parties would mutually consider the amount.

VI. Schedule

The website would be developed by mid November. The hosting would be done considering our academic schedule.
